A detailed botanical illustration of tropical plants. In the upper left, a Bird of Paradise flower (Strelitzia reginae) is shown with its characteristic yellow and blue petals and a red bract. To the right, a large, upright inflorescence of a ginger-like plant (Alpinia) features a dense cluster of small, bright red flowers. The background is filled with large, broad, green leaves with prominent veins, and several unopened flower buds are visible on the stems.
